About Numerus

Founded in 2006, Numerus Ltd is a biostatistical consultancy with offices in the UK and Germany.

At our core lies a highly experienced team of statisticians and statistical programmers, supported by a pool of freelance consultants located across Europe. The result is an international, intercultural network delivering a local service of the highest quality.

This innovative approach, coupled with a genuine passion for our work and an unfailing commitment to perform at our best, are the reasons why many pharmaceutical, biotechnology and medical research organisations have turned to Numerus for biostatistical expertise.

What can we offer?

We know that a one-size service does not fit all. We take time to understand your individual needs and deliver a personalised package to address these. Our comprehensive suite of services includes:

Standard services

- Trial Design & Protocol Development
- Sample Size Determination
- Randomisation
- Statistical Analysis Plan
- Statistical Programming
- Report Writing.

“The future belongs to flexible, powerful consultancies who can provide dedicated services on an international scale.”
